

Green Room Life

Brief Description:

Green Room life is a private room and an extension of the Green Room. Members of GRL must be a member of The Green Room in order to be accepted into the group. This room is centered on ALL things non reseller related. It is moderated by Raiken Profit, Bonafide Hustler, Retro Aficionado, and The College Picker.

Code of Conduct and More About GRL:

Welcome to Green Room Life was designed to allow for discussions of all aspects non-reseller related. Inside the room there are rules to abide by, much like any other group. Please take a second to review the rules and regulations of this room.

1. Treat your fellow members as you wish to be treated. This should be exercised during conversations, disagreements, or anything in between.
2. The room is a safe place for all to post progress pictures regarding fitness and health. There will be a zero tolerance policy on any berating statements or insinuations to a member based on appearance, sexual preference, gender, race, or political preferences.
3. Refrain from foul language and banter that does not contribute to the main topic at hand.
4. There's room for all topics in GRL. The main premise of the group still remains to help one another. So always be thinking of posts and responses that are in line with that core value.

5. Refrain from negativity. Let's all keep this room just as good as the Green Room.

Have an issue with a post? Message the admin team and we will resolve it. In addition, the admin staff reserves the right to remove anyone out of the room.

We aim for Green Room Life to be a very safe and fun place; we will act accordingly to maintain our vision and do whatever it takes to maintain a positive vibe for the majority of the members there.

The main goal of the Green Room Life is to help our members grow. Not only do we want our members to succeed financially, but we strive for excellence in all areas of life.

We hope you enjoy GRL and please be sure to join our private Facebook group.
